AI WEEK 2023

AI Week is a leading international conference that is focused on showcasing the forefront of AI research and the application of intelligent systems.

Bringing together industry leaders as well as leading academics, AI Week is a unique opportunity for audiences to explore real-world case studies and pioneering research, while networking with industry peers.

Data scientists, data engineers, entrepreneurs, policy makers, students and academics are invited to register for the opportunity to learn more about the technologies that are changing our world.

Promote yourselves as AI technology leaders by partnering with us for AI Week 2023. Get in front of some of the world's leading data engineers, scientists, academics and AI product managers, as well as the entrepreneurs, investors and policy makers that are reshaping our industry.

YOUR HOSTS

AI Week 2022 is hosted by The Blavatnik ICRC and The Yuval Ne'eman Workshop for Science, Technology & Security, together in cooperation with the TAD Center for Artificial Intelligence and Data Science at Tel Aviv University.

Since 2019, AI Week has become a cornerstone event for the AI Community. Despite the challenges of the pandemic, in 2021, we welcomed over 5,000 people from more than 80 countries for 3 days of online lectures.
